Weddings at Namale

In a secluded corner of Fiji where the rainforest meets the ocean, the rare, outrageous beauty of Namale sprawls 525 acres across a former coconut plantation. Every day, guests have opportunities to trek through virgin rainforests, sit atop a cliff overlooking the Koro Sea, relax in our award-winning spa and immerse themselves in an authentic Fijian experience.

Whether you choose to elope in the paradise that is Namale or celebrate with the people you love, our team is ready to make your day unforgettable. We tailor every wedding package to suit your needs, so the day you imagine is the day you have.

Legal Information

Registration

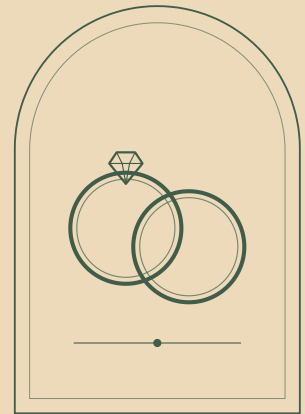

All weddings at Namale are pre-registered prior to the couple's arrival into Fiji. Special circumstances may require personal registration by the couple, along with the Namale wedding concierge, at the Savusavu Registry Office.

Documentation

Information must be submitted to Namale's wedding concierge more than 30 days prior to the wedding date to ensure paperwork is properly submitted to Fiji's Savusavu Registry Office.

- Special license form (provided by wedding concierge)
- Marriage certificate request (provided by wedding concierge)
- Waiver notice letter (provided by wedding concierge)
- Certified or original copy of birth certificates
- Passport bio data page with photos
- Recent passport-size photo of each person
- Single status form
- Divorce papers (if previously divorced)
- Death certificate (if widowed)
- Travel itinerary: flights and all accommodations
- Identification of witnesses*

If traveling without witnesses, Namale will provide witnesses with ID.*

Additional Requirements

- The bride and groom must bring the original documents listed above.
- Two witnesses are required during the ceremony (Namale will provide them if there are no guests).
- Following the ceremony, signed documents are sent to the mainland for processing. This takes a minimum of 2 weeks to complete and be mailed to the couple.
- All licensed weddings performed at Namale are legally binding under Fijian law and are recognized in most countries.

Your wedding concierge at Namale will be happy to answer any questions. You may also consult your local registry office for specific requirements on international marriages.
